

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Steve King (R-IA) today invited Iowans to visit www.AmericaSpeakingOut.com, an online initiative sponsored by the House Republican Conference that seeks to improve the public's ability to engage with Members of Congress. The "America Speaking Out" website utilizes a variety of interactive features that not only allow members of the public to submit their own ideas for consideration, but also to debate policy proposals online and to vote on legislative priorities.

"The 'America Speaking Out' project is another tool that House Republicans have developed to enable us to better respond to the wishes of the people we represent," said King.

"I encourage everyone to bookmark www.AmericaSpeakingOut.com and to become a regular visitor to the site. House Republicans look forward to engaging the American people in an online discussion about how our principles of limited, Constitutional government can best secure freedom and prosperity."

Through “America Speaking Out”, House Republicans will:

- Solicit ideas and priorities from all Americans, regardless of party affiliation.
- Provide an innovative online forum for policy debate and idea generation.
- Ensure that voices from outside Washington are brought into the policy debate.
- Explain how principles of freedom and limited government best address American needs.
- Produce a new agenda for America based on conservative principles and a transparent process.

Since its launch, over 450,000 Americans have visited www.AmericaSpeakingOut.com to let their voices become part of the debate. All Americans are welcome to take part, regardless of party affiliation.
