

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Steve King today made the following statement after thousands of American citizens made a “House Call” on Congress expressing opposition to a government takeover of health care.

“In an organic outpouring in support of liberty and freedom, Americans from across the country came to Capitol Hill today and loudly proclaimed ‘Kill this bill!’ Nancy Pelosi and Washington liberals cannot ignore what is transpiring today in Washington.

“The American people do not support a bill that puts bureaucrats between patients and doctors, funds abortion with taxpayer dollars, funds illegal aliens, raises taxes on small business owners and makes millions of Americans reliant on the government for health services that should be personal and private. The damage this bill will do is irreversible, and we must do all we can to kill it.”
