

Congressman Steve King (R-IA), announces that he will be hosting a press conference on Tuesday, January 18 in which he and several of his House colleagues will be accepting delivery of hundreds of thousands of petitions Americans have signed demanding the repeal of ObamaCare. King's press conference is being held the day before the House of Representatives is scheduled to hold a historic vote on repeal language he has authored to uproot the unpopular and unconstitutional health care law from the U.S. Code. The petitions will be delivered by Ken Hoagland, Chairman of Repeal It Now.org, a grassroots organization dedicated to repealing ObamaCare. Jenny Beth Martin of the Tea Party Patriots will also be attending the press conference to display additional grassroots support for ObamaCare's repeal.
