

Washington, D.C.- Congressman Steve King (R-IA) announces that he has been named a "Taxpayer Hero" by the Council for Citizens Against Government Waste (CCAGW), a taxpayer watchdog group dedicated to eliminating waste, fraud, abuse, and mismanagement in government. King earned the "Taxpayer Hero" designation by compiling a score of 93% in the CCAGW's review of votes cast in the second session of the 111th Congress. King's 93% is the highest score received by a member of Iowa's Congressional delegation in the CCAGW's 2010 Congressional Ratings report.

"I appreciate being named a 'Taxpayer Hero' by the Council for Citizens Against Government Waste because CCAGW shares my commitment to cutting spending, lowering taxes, and reducing the national debt," said King. "I encourage every American to review CCAGW's findings to determine where their respective Members of Congress stand on these important issues."

To determine which Members of Congress receive this designation, CCAGW conducts an annual review of the voting records of every Member of Congress to credit Members who consistently vote to protect the fiscal interests of taxpayers. More information on the CCAGW annual rating of Congress is available here .

###