

Washington, D.C.- Congressman Steve King (R-IA) released the following statement after the Supreme Court announced its decision to hear the challenge to President Obama's health care reform law:

"If the Supreme Court throws out ObamaCare as unconstitutional, then the message will be sent that the President has pushed unconstitutional impositions on the American people, rejected by the Supreme Court," said King. "If the Supreme Court instead upholds ObamaCare, which I don't expect, then the voters will understand the only recourse they have is to vote Barrack Obama out of office and elect a President who will sign the repeal of ObamaCare. And if 66% of a union heavy turnout in Ohio embraced the rejection of ObamaCare, I think President Obama's campaign will sink like a rock."
