

Washington, DC- Congressman Steve King (R-IA) an ardent opponent of ObamaCare, released an informational timeline today on his website to help educate the American people on what's been discovered about ObamaCare. King said the following to highlight the first day of Supreme Court hearings:

"To mandate that everyone must buy a health insurance policy is a huge reach, and this is exactly the kind of government the Founding Father's wanted to limit," said King. "I don't know how the Supreme Court could rationalize that this law is constitutional. We need to rip ObamaCare out by the roots, making it "as if such act had not been enacted." That's the repeal language I authored that passed the House last year. Since then, however, we've learned even more about ObamaCare's unsustainable costs and its empty promises."

"I've posted a timeline on my website of all that we've discovered about ObamaCare since that House passed my repeal language last year. I hope all interested Americans will visit my website and review this timeline. When they do, they'll gain a deeper understanding of the magnitude of the decision that's before the Supreme Court this week. Today marks the first day in a historical case, and the decision could determine the direction of our nation."
